

Before continuing the walk you might like to take time to explore this lovely village. The Church of All Hallows is worth a visit, and should you be feeling like some refreshments why not drop in at the Journeys End Inn where you will be made most welcome.

The walk continues uphill past the bus shelter and the WI Hall on the left. Take note of the charming thatched cottages, just a sample of the many that are situated in this village. After reaching Rock Cottage on the left hand side, leaving the road, the walk continues down a tarmac track straight ahead. On reaching the end of the track go through a kissing gate and turn left and proceed along the field edge keeping the hedge to your left. As you proceed along the field you will eventually see a field fence in front of you and a short way down this fence there is a fingerpost and stile. Go over the stile and proceed in a diagonal direction downwards to the next fence where there is another fingerpost and a metal gate. Go through the gate and continue diagonally across the field to a large five barred field gate in the corner of the field. Proceed through the kissing gate reached, and turn left following the stream on your left. After approximately 150 yards a fingerpost will be reached on the left hand side. This directs you to a bridge over the stream and then a kissing gate.

The path now continues along the field boundary and bears right at the corner of the field. After continuing uphill for a short distance another fingerpost will be reached directing you left into a small wood. The path now continues through the wood passing a pond on the left before reaching a well-defined wider grass track. At the head of this track you will reach another pond on the left hand side before arriving at a field gate. Turn right at this junction and continue along field boundary then turn left and follow footpath through a small car park to the road. Turn left at the road and return to the start of the walk at St Anne's Chapel.
